Dear Wendy & Family,

My sincere condolences for your husband Mike passing away. We pray for the family and at the same time celebrate Mike's great sense of adventure and humour.

I just loved his story, it brought me a sense of calm even though Mike saw major catastrophe in his stories and chaotic situations. No wonder he got out of all his scary situations by creating an out he came back home to his Wendy. You had a special person Wendy and I am sure he will watch over you from above.

God Bless,

Roger N Quevillon

P.S. The attachment has a few pictures in it that looks like the cover of our book, I hope you find it in good taste as it is meant in this way.

My Dear Wendy,

I am so sorry, in fact quite devastated to hear that Michael has died ... and so young. Our most favorite cruises were when he captained the ship and Minerva, with Michael at the helm, was top of the list. You poor darling, what a terrible loss and we both know how much you will miss him. Life, in all its wonderment can be horrible at times and this is one of those moments.

Earlier this week, in our country house, I planted two seedlings, about two and a half feet tall. They are from a beautiful, rather exotic, tree which grows in our neighbour's garden in London which every year produces amazing dark magenta flowers and then deep purple berries. From these our two seedlings have been born. They have no leaves yet and are thin stick-like plants but, hopefully they will accept their move and flourish. If they do I shall send you photos and we shall name them after Michael.

We have such happy memories of him and of course even more so when you accompanied him on those wonderful trips. He will be greatly missed.

We send you our love ...

Nigel & David
